STG may collect, use and disclose personal information for purposes relating to your credit application and account. This includes assessing your application, internal auditing and administration, verifying identity, conducting market research, managing complaints and claims, protecting our lawful interests and the rights of third parties, adding your name to a contact list, helping us to identify business activities which may be of benefit or interest to you, reviewing credit arrangements on a periodic basis or in connection with changes (e.g. credit limit) as though assessing a new application, order fulfilment and delivery, debt collection and customer relationship management. STG may source personal information from another STG company or an external third party including public sources, credit reporting bodies (CRBs) and the other parties with which STG exchanges personal information. STG may conduct lawful and relevant credit and reference checks (including consumer credit checks where you the Applicant are an individual), and deal with personal information in connection with any acquisition or potential acquisition of any part of the STG's business. Without the personal information sought, STG may not be able to do these things, including fulfil orders and process credit applications. STG may provide marketing communications to you by telephone, email, electronic messages and other means on an ongoing basis, unless you opt out by contacting STG or legal restrictions apply.

STG may exchange personal information with its related bodies corporate, your guarantors and prospective guarantors (e.g. for the purpose of them deciding whether to act as guarantor), your representatives and STG's third party suppliers who are contracted to provide a range of services including insurance broking, vehicle and petrol supply, telecommunications, equipment supply, engineering, security, data processing, data analysis, information broking, online computing, printing, contact centre, legal, accounting, business consulting, auditing, archival, delivery, mailing and investigation services. STG may also exchange that information with other credit providers for purposes including to: assess a credit or guarantor application; determine credit/default status; and assess or comment on credit worthiness. Third parties with which we exchange personal information are located in Australia, New Zealand and other countries.

You confirm that you have accessed and read STG's Privacy Policy which is available on request. The Privacy Policy contains more information about STG's handling of personal information, types of information collected, accessing and correcting personal information, privacy information, privacy complaints, CRBs used, information shared with CRBs and your rights in relation to personal information held by CRBs.

Personal Property Securities Act

If STG determines that this credit application or the Trading Terms (or a transaction in connection with this credit application or the Trading Terms) is or creates a security interest for the purposes of the Personal Property Securities Act 2009 (Cth) (PPSA), the Applicant agrees upon request to do anything (such as obtaining consents, completing, signing and/or producing documents and supplying information) which STG considers necessary for the purposes of:

- a) ensuring that the security interest is enforceable, perfected and otherwise effective;
- b) enabling STG to apply for any registration, or give any notification, in connection with the security interest so that the security interest has the priority required by STG; and
- c) enabling STG to exercise rights in connection with the security interest.
